WITNESS GAVE WARNING

Senator Nixon and Guggenheims Would Convict Him.

Hinting at sensational developments to neys for the defense in the trial of George Graham Rice, B. H. Scheftels and others of that group in the United States Court to-day tried hard to get questions answered that would open the r ay for something they have up their neeves that will involve "people higher p." They were overruled at every turn of Judge Ray.

Mohn J. Delaney, the order clerk of onony. He is also under indictment, t elected to stand trial alone, and then rprised the defense by becoming a itness for the prosecution, revealing ie methods that prevailed in the buckstshop that was raided by Federal agents a year ago last October.

Assistant United States District-Attorney Dorr asked the witness: "Were the books of the firm altered because word was received that the Government was investigating the

On cross-examination Attorney Voorhaus wanted to know when the tip was received that the Government was investigating.

"I believe it was just before George Graham Rice went to Reno-in June, 1919," answered Delaney. Mr. Voorhaus continued to probe into the matter, but was overruled on objections by the Government's attorneys. WARNED RICE THAT HE WAS UP AGAINST IT.

"Is it not a fact," demanded Mr. Voorhaus, "that since you became a witness you met Rice on the street and told him that you knew he was going be convicted because of his attacks on United States Senator Nixon, the Guggenheims and George Winfield? Did you not tell him they were too powerful people to monkey with?"

Delaney said he had told Rice that Mr. Voorhaus then wanted to know what basis he had for the belief, but the Government's attorneys would not permit him to go into this subject. In the paper the Scheftels published Rice hurled broadsides at Nixon and the Guggenheims, and it was through Nixon that it became known in Reno that Rice was a former convict.

The Scheftels shop was investigated George Scarborough, a Department by George Scarborough, the opposition the of Justice agent, who resigned from the Department when his connection with the Simmons bucket shop was dis-covered. The Government has not called him and does not intend to, and there has been a rumor going around the court-room that the defense will. Delaney was closely interrogated by Judga Ray as to the meaning of the terms used by him in his testimony wherein he described the workings of wherein he described the workings of the bucket shop.
"I am interested," said the Court, "for I never was in one of those places in my life."

Dr. Barnett said he was doubtful of his right to issue a death certificate under the circumstances and telephoned Coroner Keinberg to make an examina-tion. In a statement to The Evening World, Dr. Barnett said;

World, Dr. Barnett said:

"I want as little notoriety as possible in this case, for, although it was an unavoidable accident, things like this do not do my reputation any good. The patient died after the first few breaths of the chloroform had been inhaled, not, as stated, from an overdose. This happens about once in ten thousand cases, thill it happens, and there is no way to avoid it. An examination of the heart before administering the anaesthetic will before administering the anaesthetic will show that a subject seems to be in permow that a subject seems to be in per-fect condition. Yet on the first few in-halations of the drug the breathing stops and beath follows at once."

Gimbel Brothers, Bankers A Banking Service Without Vexatious Restrictions

Many a man or woman who has wished the convenience of a bank account has been timid about opening one for fear of the difficulties placed in the way by many banks-the size of the initial deposit required, for instance, or the net balance required to be kept on deposit.

For this reason, the easy arrangements provided by Gimbel Brothers, Bankers, for opening and maintaining accounts, are greatly appreciated by people who learn about them.

Such accounts, if in the Interest Department, draw 4 per cent. interest per annum, compounded semi-annually.

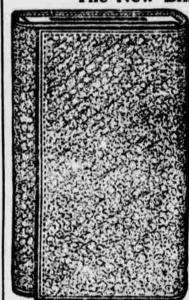

Checking accounts draw 2 per cent. interest on requisite daily balances. Having an account with Gimbel Brothers, Bankers, in no way obligates the depositor to shop at Gimbels, except as desirable. Many customers of the store, however, have found it convenient and an economy in time and travel to have an account where they do their shopping.

Charge accounts with Gimbels may be opened by depositors of Gimbel Brothers, Bankers, upon arrangement with the Store's Credit Office; but purchases are not charged against the depositor's account; bills are rendered monthly in the

The Entire Stock of Blumenkron At a Third to Half Less Than Blumenkron Prices

The Wearing Apparel Specialty Store for Women and Misses 34th Street, West of the Waldorf-Astoria

This new store might possibly be doing a good business today, but for a combination of unfavorable circumstances over which it had no control principally the street widening, the remodeling and building operations, in front, to the east, and to the west of the new Blumenkron store. In fact, much of the time the sidewalks were all but impassable.

It was, therefore, no fault of the fine wearing apparel that brought about the voluntary bankruptcy of the Blumenkron store, for it is, in fact, one of the most desirable, the best assorted and most attractive stocks we have ever seen offered in a bankrupt sale.

The manager, after many years of successfully conducting these branches in another well-known high-grade New York store, naturally was even more exacting and painstaking in selecting a stock for his own store—the stock we are now offering at a third to a half less than Blumenkron prices—including:

Women's and Misses' Fur Garments—Small Furs, Suits, Dresses, Coats, Wraps, Skirts, Petticoats, Waists, and Neckwear

Practically all of which was bought for this season's business from the leading makers at home and abroad. The styles are those most approved, the materials are fine and thoroughly dependable; the variety, THE STOCK OF AN ENTIRE STORE.

Such a decidedly unusual offering will undoubtedly bring a most unusual response, but it is not to be expected that the stock of a five-story store will sell out in a day, therefore,
